

A house of dust
by the sea
using electricity
inhabited by french and german speaking people

A house of straw
in a place with both heavy rain and bright sun
using electricity
inhabited by american indians

A house of glass
among small hills
using all available lighting inhabited by collectors of all types

A house of leaves
in a place with both heavy rain and bright sun
using electricity
inhabited by lovers

A house of straw
in michigan
using all available lighting
inhabited by people who sleep almost all the time

A house of wood
in a desert
using natural light
inhabited by french and german speaking people

A house of plastic
by the sea
using natural light
inhabited by people who eat a great deal

A house of plastic
underwater
using candles
inhabited by horses and birds

A house of glass
by the sea
using natural light
inhabited by lovers

A house of leaves
in a cold, windy climate
using electricity
inhabited by friends and enemies

A house of tin
underwater